Road Trips Australia Backroads and Byways

By Don Fuchs

Australia is the ideal country for adventurous road trips. A gigantic network of roads, many unpaved or back roads, runs through the almost endless expanse. Fascinating national parks relate to country towns; long stretches of coastline, vast forests and large tracts of the outback are accessible.

All you need is a sturdy (SUV or 4WD) vehicle, camping gear, navigation skills and a good dose of common sense. And time, of course.

There is, however, no need to always venture to the remotest parts of Australia to have a good time and make discoveries. Some of the road trips suggested in this book find their stage in the more civilised and densely populated parts of the continent. Sometimes the unknown and fascinating is just around the corner.

No matter where you venture, there is no better way to shake off the hectic lifestyle of our cities and everyday life in suburbia than on an adventurous trip down the roads less travelled.

Islands

By Australian Geographic

Australia's tally of 8222 islands spans the tropics to the sub-Antarctic. No other country on Earth revels in a richer diversity of offshore habitats. Many are incomparable natural refuges. Some host plants and animals that live nowhere else. Others give sanctuary to species harried into extinction on the mainland. These isles have seen it all – havens of escape, they nurture creative exiles, as well as renegade spirits of every stripe. Bass Strait boasts more than 120 islands. They are blustery outcasts, often anchored by bulky granite headlands, and most also have lee shores with welcoming white-sand beaches. Through the 19th century, Tasmania and its outliers were the epitome of distant lands bristling with hazards and exotic nature. These days mountainous Maria Island is a peaceful haunt for bushwalkers and nature buffs. Further north, resorts in the Whitsunday group, plus those sprinkled along the Great Barrier Reef.

Fire To Fork

Adventure Cooking

By Harry Fisher

From the pindan red beaches of the Kimberley's west coast to the karri forests of southern Western Australia, Harry Fisher has cemented his reputation with a pair of tongs around the campfire. Combining his passion for the Aussie bush and great food, he's made it his mission to prove that camp cooking doesn't have to be dull cooking. Harry's campfire cooking and distinct approach to recipe creation are encapsulated by his personal brand - Fire to Fork. His meals are simple enough for any enthusiastic bush cook to prepare, but his focus on fewer but higher quality ingredients, and techniques he's learned from his mother, a chef, sets him apart in the camp cooking world. Fire to Fork has amassed millions of views on YouTube and tens of thousands of followers across the globe. As a result, Harry is the most popular authority on bush cooking, not just in Australia, but everywhere good food and campfires are combined.

The Small Kitchen Cook

Thoughtful Recipes for Tiny Kitchens

By Ashleigh Butler

Ash Butler has spent a decade living and travelling in campervans across Australia and the US with her partner, Jared. During that time, Ash drew on her love of cooking, experimentation, and work as a cook in small cafes and, often, caterer to the giant gatherings organised by @vanlifediaries (a social media platform of which Jared is a co-founder), to become an expert on preparing tasty and wholesome food in small spaces. In her first collection of more than 65 recipes for campervans, caravans and tiny homes, Ash shows it's simple to cook delicious, seasonal, and nourishing food when all you've got is a two-burner stove, a small fridge and an incredible, everchanging view. The book focuses on preparing healthy, wholesome food that is easy to store, uses everyday ingredients and reduces food waste.

Australia's Endangered Bush Creatures

By Myke Mollard

Australia's wild creatures are facing a fast-changing environment that has humankind's fingerprint all over it and hundreds are in danger of complete extinction. We can't save what we don't know or understand: awareness is paramount to helping these endangered creatures survive into the lifetimes of future generations. Myke Mollard's signature illustrations and engaging text bring kids up close and personal with 134 of Australia's most endangered creatures, highlighting both the common and uncommon threats to each species and revealing the fragile balance existing in nature and how our human impact is collapsing ecosystems and unbalancing the natural world. While some of these creatures may be iconic and well-studied, many of them are less known: all have their plight, beauty and character delicately presented in this important new book.

Exploring Hidden Sydney

The Secret Histories behind over 700 Sites and Buildings

By Trevor McAlister

Abandoned New South Wales

By Shane Thoms

From the Opera House, sitting like a jewel embedded in the Sydney crown, to the warm northern beaches and, much farther west, to the sprawling red deserts surrounding Broken Hill, New South Wales is diverse and bountiful. But there's a trail of discarded architectural legacies: abandoned factories, homes, and public buildings. These forgotten establishments are small footnotes of history left by the most recent occupants of these spaces. Here, the past and present clash to reveal a handful of small vignettes that whisper the secrets of those who came to work and dwell. Abandoned New South Wales points to some of the clues that speak of the forgotten lives of Australia's oldest state.

Wonder of Nature's Way

Stunning images of Australia's incomparable Top End journey

By Louise Denton

Key Sales Points:

* New book from the photographer that produced local bestseller: The Magic of the Top End Stunning photographs showcase the exceptional beauty of the places along this route.
* Will appeal to locals, visitors and anyone interested in the dramatic landscapes of Australia

Nature's Way is one of the most glorious tourists drives in Australia – indeed the world – heading from Darwin in the Northern Territory out east to Kakadu National Park, south to Nitmiluk National Park (formerly known as Katherine Gorge) then north back to Darwin via Litchfield National Park. As well as the national parks, the route passes many lesser known but often almost equally sublime places.

Louise showcases the journey with beautiful and dramatic photographs, the result of her phenomenal eye for composition and seeming endless patience to capture a scene at just the right moment. No shrinking violet, Louise heads out in all weathers and has captured the region in all its guises, from the still, parched dry season to the often violently stormy early wet season to the rich, exuberantly green late wet season. As well as landscapes, Louise gets to grips with showing us the rhythms and flows of the diverse flora and fauna to be seen along the route, with wonderfully shot images of many of the animals and plants that are part of this incredible landscape.
