Australian Bush Pubs 3/e

A Celebration of Outback Australia's Iconic Watering Holes

By Craig Lewis, Cathy Savage

Key Sales Points:

- * A unique look at the most characterful outback pubs in Australia.
- * This popular book, now in its 3rd edition, has sold over 22,000 copies.
- * Includes pubs from right across Australia.

This popular visual pub crawl across outback Australia, first published in 2010, is one of Boiling Billy's bestselling books.

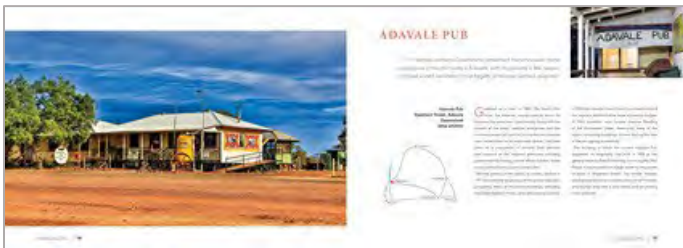

Lavishly illustrated with striking and fascinating full-colour photographs, Australian Bush Pubs features an eclectic collection of historic outback watering holes, including such classics as Queensland's famous Birdsville Hotel and New South Wales' characterful Silverton Hotel.

The accompanying text portrays a short history of each establishment along with any unusual aspects, such as happenings, famous patrons and even ghosts!

This third edition introduces a handful of new pubs and brings up to date many of the stories and photographs of the old favourites.

Author Bio:

Authors Craig Lewes and Cathy Savage are long-term travel writers and photographers, mostly writing about Australian bush travel. On their almost continuous wanderings throughout the backblocks the pair have, on the odd occasion, found themselves forced to visit many a bush pub (all in the name of research of course). This book is the result of those endeavours. Craig and Cathy created the Boiling Billy imprint in 1996 and are based on a small farm in High Country NSW. For the third edition, they have had the assistance of authors and photographers Louise Denton, Erin Jordan and Simon Punch.

The Passion for Aussie-Built Cars

By Steve Reid

Key Sales Points:

- * New title in the popular Passion for... series.
- * Highly illustrated, features 50 vehicles that have been lovingly restored.
- * Only models or variants available in Australia or NZ are included.

The motor industry in Australia is more diverse than many of us realise. Even the British Motor Corporation (BMC) had a brief crack at breaking into the Aussie market.

This book looks at 50-odd individual cars that have been carefully restored and maintained here in Australia, covering a wide range of types and models. They are not all purely 100% Australian born, but they are all models or variations that were only originally available in the Aussie and New Zealand markets.

Sadly, the Australian motor industry is no more, with no cars being assembled in any shape or form.

This book takes us back in time to when cars and commercial vehicles were being successfully produced in Australia - and sometimes assembled in New Zealand.

Author Bio:
Steve Reid is the author of a number of popular motoring books, including Veteran Cars: Amazing New Zealand Collections, and its companion volumes Kiwi Vintage Car Collections and Vintage Trucks and Commercials: Kiwi Collections. Steve is also a regular contributor to Classic Car magazine, and lives in Blenheim, New Zealand.

Great Railway Journeys in Australia and New Zealand 3/e

By David Bowden

An absorbing description of 35 trips that highlight some of the most interesting, scenic, and rewarding railway journeys in Australia and New Zealand.

They include the renowned long-distance journeys, such as The Indian Pacific in Australia that takes travellers on a three-day trip from Perth to Sydney or The Northern Explorer in New Zealand's North Island that stretches from Wellington to Auckland, as well as those that traverse stunning scenery, such as New Zealand's TranzAlpine train or the Spirit of the Outback in Australia.

There are also routes on which restored steam locomotives operate and other lines included for the wonder of their engineering.

Trains are a great way to travel in these countries, taking you at ground level past superb scenery that often cannot be seen by any other means of transport.

The fully updated third edition covers the routes, the major features of interest along the way and any special technical details about the locomotive or the track.

Author Bio:
David Bowden is a freelance journalist based in Malaysia, specializing in travel and the environment. While Australian, he's been living in Asia longer than he can remember, but returns frequently to his home country and has a particular enthusiasm for the revived railways there. He is the author of Enchanting Australia, Enchanting Bali & Lombok, Enchanting Borneo, Enchanting Indonesia, Enchanting Langkawi, Enchanting Malaysia, Enchanting Singapore and Enchanting Vietnam, all published by John Beaufoy Publishing.

A portrait in words and photographs of over 50 of the world's most exciting, unusual and exotic railway journeys, including North America, Europe, Africa, Asia and Australasia. Each journey is accompanied by a route map and is described in terms of the technical challenges of the construction of the track as well as the stunning views to be seen while travelling on the trains. One of the most famous, the Orient Express route from Paris to Istanbul, is historical and no longer possible as a single journey but full details of how to trace the route today accompany the description of the original concept.

Great Railway Journeys in Europe features 34 fascinating journeys in North-West, Nordic, Central, Southern and South-East Europe, ranging from international mega-trips to short, nostalgic excursions on steam trains. There are journeys through stunning scenery, such as the trip on The Rauma Line in Norway; tracks that defy the terrain, such as the routes through the Swiss Alps, and journeys that link famed cities in France, Spain, Austria and Italy. Photographs illustrate the spectacular routes, remarkable locomotives and unique station architecture.

Great Railway Journeys in Asia showcases 34 of the best rail journeys in South, Southeast and North Asia. The journeys chosen by David Bowden, an avid rail traveller, range from quirky trains used as essential travel for locals, such as the North Borneo Railway, to trains on which passengers can experience 5 star luxury as they travel through stunning scenery, as, for example, the opulence of Indias Palace on Wheels. Other journeys are chosen for the marvel of their engineering, Thailand's Death Railway for instance, features the 300 metre-long Tham Krasae trestle bridge or for the length of a country that they traverse, like the Trans-Mongolian Railway that connects Beijing with Moscow via vast plains and steppes.

The Slow Road Cookbook Camp Cooking For Family Adventures

By Kirianna Poole

Key Sales Points:

- * Kirianna is a successful travel blogger with over 170,000 instagram followers on her account @rileystravels.
- * A camp cookbook from the same publishers as the best-selling Fire To Fork.
- * Over 70 original recipes, perfect for families who love camping and caravanning.
- * Hearty and wholesome meals for travelling families.
- * Beautiful, inspiring travel imagery.
- * Kirianna takes inspiration from her Māori heritage and a lifetime of travel.

Mums only want the best for their families. But Kirianna Poole didn't find that in a big house in the middle of suburbia. Instead, she's spent five years travelling with her husband and three kids in their vintage Kombi. Life travels slowly in an old campervan, and for Kirianna, that means lots of time to dream up simple, hearty food that's perfect for cooking while camping. Schooled in her dad's restaurants and inspired by a slow-paced life, she knows that good food is the foundation of awesome family adventures.

Author Bio:

Kirianna Poole has spent five years travelling and camping through Australia and New Zealand with her husband and three children in a vintage Volkswagen Kombi campervan. Along the way, she's inspired millions of people through Instagram to take their camp cooking next level, proving that it's possible to cook hearty and wholesome camp meals from a tiny kitchen on the go. Using ingredients you can find everywhere, Kirianna's slow food philosophy centres around seasonal and local produce, and her Māori heritage and international travels influence her recipes.

From the small burner in her van or a campfire at camp, Kirianna's simple, delicious, and wholesome recipes are perfect for families who want to eat better outdoors. Forget two-minute noodles; The Slow Road Cookbook is filled with the meals she grew up with in a Māori family in New Zealand, flavours she's savoured around the world, and camping classics born in the Aussie bush. With over 100 recipes and chapters covering meat, chicken, seafood, desserts, breakfasts, and even some sneaky cocktails, you'll never lack for choice.

With a baby strapped to her chest and two barefooted kids exploring around her, this is food for families who crave a slower life, more connection with people, the land, and, just as importantly, themselves.

The Wagner Group

From Savage Global Mercenaries to Vladimir Putin's Unlikely Nemesis

By Owen Wilson

Key Sales Points:

- * The first book on the controversial Wagner Group, the Russian mercenaries led by Yevgeny Prigozhin who revolted against Putin and got away with it.
- * Written by former Financial Times journalist Owen Wilson who specialises in organised crime.
- * Based on interviews, little known facts, and first-hand accounts.
- * Shocking revelations on the cruel and vicious methods deployed by the mercenaries to do the Kremlin's bidding until they didn't.
- * Strong review and serial interest.

This is the first book on the Wagner Group, the shadowy Russian paramilitary organisation that fought in Ukraine and staged a surprise uprising against Vladimir Putin on 23-24 June.

It has been involved in conflicts in Syria, Libya, the Central African Republic, Venezuela and Mali, committing war crimes, rape, robbery of civilians, and torture. Yevgeny Prigozhin, a businessman with close links to the Kremlin, admitted in September 2022 that he "founded" the paramilitary group.

Owen Wilson investigates its history and who is really behind the group as it clearly isn't Vladimir Putin.

Author Bio:

Owen Wilson started his writing career at the FINANCIAL TIMES and the author of several books on organised crime. He has provided news comment on British, Australian, New Zealand and US broadcasters and media. His most recent book is the acclaimed The Killer Prince: The Chilling Special Operation to Assassinate Washington Post Journalist Jamal Khashoggi

The Many Lives of Barry Humphries

A Treasury of Reminisces

By Rowan Dean

Key Sales Points:

- * An intimate memoir about the life of Barry Humphries, one of Australia’s most successful comedians, actors, authors, and satirist. From writing and playing his stage television characters Dame Edna Everage and Sir Les Patterson, The Many Lives of Barry Humphries recounts the incredible life and history of Humphries and the characters that brought him national and international renown.
- * One of the most recognisable names and faces in Australia’s entertainment industry with an almost five-decade career spanning theatre, television, books and film. The book covers the entire history of the legend.
- * Includes exclusive tributes from Academy Award-winning director Bruce Beresford and renowned British theatrical producer Sir Cameron Mackintosh to his most intimate and closest friends.
- * Media coverage: Just in time for Christmas and the State Memorial farewell to be held at the Sydney Opera House in December 2023.

Actor, comedian, raconteur, writer, poet, painter, songwriter, music lover and one of the most gifted artists of the last century, Barry Humphries was an Australian global superstar.

Author Bio:

Rowan Dean is one of Australia’s leading media commentators and political satirists. He is the host of the contrarian and number one rating Outsiders show on Sky News Australia and a regular commentator on other TV shows. Rowan is also the editor-in-chief of The Spectator Australia and writes a weekly satirical column for the Australian Financial Review. He is also the author of several books including The Canberry Tales and the novel Corkscrewed, a tale of hedonism and ambition in the heady days of 1980s advertising.

In this affectionate tribute, Rowan Dean, one of the last people to spend time alone with his friend Barry, reminisces the many lives of Barry Humphries with a plethora of Humphries’ closest colleagues and associates about their unique and untold personal relationships with the extraordinary creator of Dame Edna and Sir Les Patterson.

Discover the unbelievable richness and surprises of the many, many lives of Barry Humphries in The Many Lives of Barry Humphries.

The Australian Gamble

Organized Crime Down Under

By Paul Bleakley

Key Sales Points:

*The Australian Gamble tells the story Jack Rooklyn, from his youth as a Jewish emigre to his debut in the Australian entertainment industry and his ties to organized crime in the U.S. and abroad.

The Australian Gamble explores Jack Rooklyn's role as a thread that connects some of the best-recognized characters, and most pivotal events, in Australian criminal history.

It is a story that begins overseas, with the origins of the Bally poker machine company - a scandal-prone business with a name that was fated to be forever linked with Rooklyn's.

From humble origins in Al Capone's Chicago, Bally rode the amusement game wave to become one of the biggest players in the gaming industry worldwide ... a status that made it an attractive target for takeover by America's Italian Mafia.

Run out of Cuba on the heels of Castro's communist revolution, The Families were looking for new opportunities to expand their gaming ambitions, both in the desert mecca Las Vegas and (more quietly) through clandestinely sinking their hooks into a financially struggling Bally.

Author Bio:

Paul Bleakley is assistant professor of Criminal Justice at the University of New Haven. Before entering the academic world, Paul was a journalist working in both London and Sydney. He is the author of two books on historical crime in Australia: Under a Bad Sun (2021) and Policing Child Sexual Abuse (2022). Paul is Australian.

Songwriters Speak

Conversations about Creating Music

By Debbie Kruger

Songwriters Speak gives a unique insight into the lives of our best-known songwriters – and the multitudinous soundtracks of our own lives. This book, the first collection of in-depth interviews with the creative powerhouses of the Australian music industry, was critically acclaimed on its release in 2005. It became a sought-after reference work for other music writers and serious fans wanting to go deep into the stories of how the artists they admired so much worked, thought, and felt. For 15 years, Songwriters Speak languished out of print, yet still in demand, until Sydney-based boutique publishing label Bouley Bay Books partnered with author Debbie Kruger to bring this “buried treasure” of music writing back into circulation in 2023. In the intervening time, six of the songwriters interviewed have died and the music industry has changed dramatically.

Becoming Nick and Nora

The Thin Man and the Films of William Powell and Myrna Loy

By Rob Kozlowski

As Nick and Nora Charles in the six Thin Man movies from 1934 to 1947, the husband-and-wife team of William Powell and Myrna Loy showed that marriage didn't have to mean the end of the romantic comedy. From the comedic delight that was the initial The Thin Man through its five sequels as well as eight other films (including the Oscar-winning The Great Ziegfeld and Manhattan Melodrama), Powell and Loy were cemented in the public imagination as Hollywood's happiest married couple. In Becoming Nick and Nora, comedy writer and Hollywood historian Rob Kozlowski follows the winding path that Powell and Loy's screen personas took over their careers. Studios originally cultivated the two as villains in the silent era: Powell as a moustachioed, swashbuckling fiend and Loy as an "exotic" adversary.

Art and Architecture of Sicily

By Julian Treuherz

Art and Architecture of Sicily is the first book to cover the rich artistic heritage of Sicily from prehistory up to the late 20th century. Sicily's strategic position in the centre of the Mediterranean led to settlement or conquest by a succession of different peoples - Phoenicians, Greeks, Romans, Byzantines, Muslims, Normans, Germans, French, Spanish - each one leaving its traces on Sicilian culture. The book provides a chronological survey, each section opening with a brief historical overview which is followed with an authoritative and engaging account of the development of the period's art and architecture. The leading architects, artists and stylistic currents are all discussed and outstanding individual buildings and works of art are analysed, some famous, others which may be unfamiliar to readers.

A Hell of a Lot of Glass
Achieving gender equality in the workplaces of Australia

By Kate Ramsay

A hell of a lot of glass - achieving gender equality in the workplaces of Australia deals with the questions we're all still asking: - why, after more than four decades of anti-discrimination, equal opportunity and affirmative action legislation and policy in Australia, do we still not have gender equality at work? - why is there still a gender pay gap in Australia? - and why are some women still having to navigate not just glass ceilings but glass cliffs and labyrinths at work? Importantly, the book includes practical ways to address these challenges.

The author Kate Ramsay draws on her considerable experience in the field of equal opportunity to produce a book that is informative, 'meaty', readable, and timely. Timely, because the book outlines some important legislative changes about the gender pay gap and other employer responsibilities that leaders need to know about. It's a must read for leaders keen to create a gender diverse workforce, for change agents with the inclusion and diversity portfolio in their workplaces, for women juggling work and family responsibilities and for all of us who want equality at work.

Big Moments
Expert advice for conquering the big moments that define us

By Melisa Sloan

Our lives are made up of many big moments and it is these big moments that define us. Some of those moments are full of infinite joy – landing your dream job, marrying the love of your life, having your first child, buying your first pad and more. Along the way there are also those not so good moments, breaking up with your love, losing your job, getting into a financial pickle, travel trips ending badly and your parents encountering declining health and needing care. Like with anything new, we often find ourselves in an unfamiliar place as we reach these milestones.

Throughout this book the author also draws on her extensive network of experienced experts in their field, providing compelling insight from some of Australia's greatest leaders in business and law and allowing the reader to be the recipient of such meaningful advice from such eminent leaders. This book touches on thought-provoking topics providing the reader with guidance on how to navigate these parts of their journey, encouraging them to embrace the opportunities that come their way, and conquering their fears.

How to Survive and Thrive When Bad Things Happen
9 Steps to Cultivating an Opportunity Mindset in a Crisis

By PhD Taylor Jim

Few of us go through life without experiencing some sort of crisis, whether health, financial, relationship, career, or personal safety. Crises happen and they are often out of our control. But the one thing we can control is how we respond to them. Yet, our natural instincts often hinder us as we confront today's crises that are complex, amorphous, and not readily solvable. Changing our reaction to a crisis is an immense challenge, yet with powerful lessons provided in these pages, anyone can turn crises into opportunities for reflection, positive action, and growth. . A crisis mentality can overwhelm you when bad things happen. Turning crises into opportunities empowers you to overcome the darkness that can engulf you in troubled times and allow you to seek the light that can guide you through hard times.

Rethinking Dementia
Ripples and Responses

By Michael Chapman, Miranda Burton

Written by a Palliative Care Physician this book argues that dementia affects and involves not only individuals with a 'dementia' diagnosis, but the networks of people close to and/or caring for that individual. The book encourages us to consider dementia not as the condition of an isolated individual but as a process of change within a social and relational system. Dementia challenges deeply held values of 'autonomy', 'individualism', 'independence', 'consistency' and ideas of personhood. Rather than focus on the question of a 'cure' for dementia, Chapman investigates how it is possible for networks of people to understand and learn from the changes that the arrival of dementia in their midst bring about.

What Does Eating Disorder Recovery Look Like?

Answers to Your Questions about Therapy and Recovery

By Lucia Giombini, Sophie Nesbitt

Key Sales Points:

- * Answers to frequently asked and difficult questions about living with an eating disorder to support individuals and families through the treatment and recovery process.
- * Wide readership, including those with eating disorders, their families and carers, and professionals.

Do you have questions about eating disorders that you are afraid to ask? How about questions you did ask but couldn't get an answer to? This guide offers honest answers to difficult questions. Drawing on their experience supporting young people and adults with eating disorders, the authors provide insight into treatment and share information about recovery that is often harder to find. Ideal for individuals and families at every stage of the recovery process, this book is relevant and sensitive to all types of eating disorder and has been developed to include insights from first-hand experience, alongside expert guidance. It also acknowledges the specific questions families, carers and non-medical professionals might have, helping them to understand the recovery process and better support others.

Big Liars

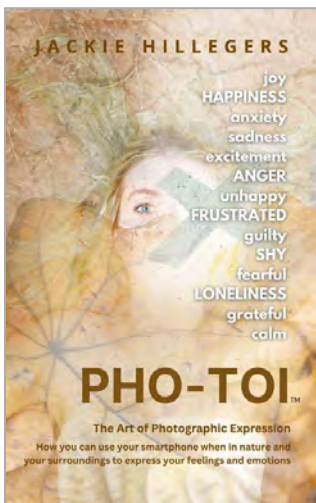

What Psychological Science Tells Us About Lying, and How You Can Avoid Being Duped

By Christian L. Hart, Drew A. Curtis

This book investigates the science behind "big liars"- those rare people who use lies as their principal way of navigating life. Most people are mostly honest, most of the time. And there aren't that many big, pants-on-fire liars in the population overall. But just a few big liars can have an outsized impact on the people around them--ruining personal relationships, bankrupting businesses, and even, when they attain political power, undermining the fabric of society. Big Liars explores this small but dangerous group through the lens of psychological science. Fascinating new research gives us insight into the nature of dishonesty and dishonest people, explaining who lies, what types of people lie a lot, how often people lie, how big liars are created, how they operate, how we can recognize them, and how we can avoid being victimized by them.

The Power of Persistence

How to Stop Quitting on Yourself and Achieve Your Goals

By John Martin

Are you frustrated by your continued failure to follow through on your goals? Are you tired of getting excited about your New Year's resolution or business idea only to find your enthusiasm dwindle and your efforts fade away after several months or even weeks? It has been proven throughout history that persistence--not talent-- is the most valuable ingredient to accomplishing feats both big and small. In The Power of Persistence, author John Martin offers seven steps to breaking the cycle of starting and quitting. By following the simple formula presented in these pages, you can build a mindset of persistence and finally commit to your goals with the confidence that you will achieve them, regardless of the obstacles that arise. Learn more and enjoy the benefits of living with the power of persistence.

The Ultimate Nineties Retro Gaming Collection

Essential Guide to Gaming's Raddest Decade

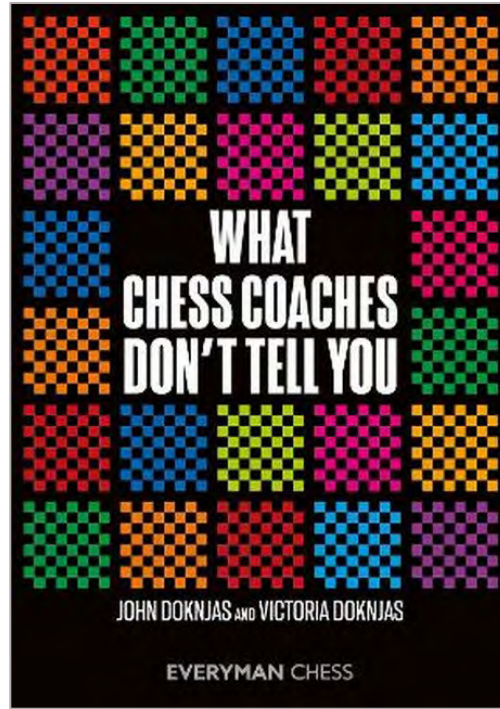

By Darren Jones

The 90s were an exciting time to be a gamer as most of the hard work had already been done by the pioneering developers during the 70s and 80s, meaning talented coders were able to take these existing themes and ideas and build upon them. As a result, some of the greatest games of all time came from this halcyon period including Super Mario World, Sonic the Hedgehog 2 and Streetfighter II: The World Warrior. The 90s were a transitional period as well, as 3-D gaming started to become the norm and many systems moved over to formats like CD-ROM. The 90s were also a time when home computer gaming was on the wane as more and more gamers were turning towards exciting new consoles that were coming out, including Sony PlayStation which would not only shake up the industry but help shape it into what we enjoy today. With that in mind this new book is dedicated to the greatest games that were available to play during this amazing decade, from the of Sonic the Hedgehog 2 to Super Mario World, Tomb Raider, and the excellent Ridge Racer so...get ready for a serious nostalgia hit.

What Chess Coaches Don't Tell You

By John Doknjas, Victoria Doknjas

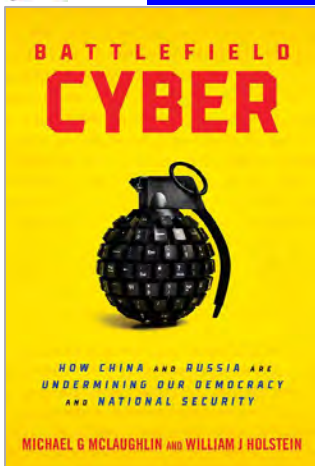

Are you a parent of a junior chess player who feels that because you don't know how to play chess, you can't help your child? Or are you an adult or junior chess player who has taken private chess lessons for years, but feels you haven't been progressing? In both cases, there can be a lot of reliance on a chess coach who has been given free rein with lesson content and direction. They probably have some sort of plan, but it is likely to be a plan used for all their students. This is not ideal. More important is a well-thought out, individualized plan, that focuses on a specific player's unique strengths and weaknesses. Formulating such a plan is crucial for making improvements. Victoria Doknjas and her son John Doknjas are an ideal writing partnership to tackle this topic. John is a FIDE Master who has already established himself as an excellent and highly respected author who understands the improvement process very well. Victoria has over a decade of experience navigating the competitive chess arena with her three master-level sons, including also running her own chess academy. Together they offer a unique and informative insight to those wanting to get more out of their chess studies, as well as presenting practical advice.

Pi

A Biography of the World's Most Mysterious Number

By Alfred S Posamentier, Ingmar Lehmann

We all learned that the ratio of the circumference of a circle to its diameter is called pi and that the value of this algebraic symbol is roughly 3.14. What we weren't told, though, is that behind this seemingly mundane fact is a world of mystery, which has fascinated mathematicians from ancient times to the present. Simply put, pi is weird. Mathematicians call it a transcendental number because its value cannot be calculated by any combination of addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, and square root extraction. In this delightful layperson's introduction to one of math's most interesting phenomena, Drs. Posamentier and Lehmann review pi's history from prebiblical times to the 21st century, the many amusing and mind-boggling ways of estimating pi over the centuries, quirky examples of obsessing about pi (including an attempt to legislate its exact value), and more.

The Art of Weaving

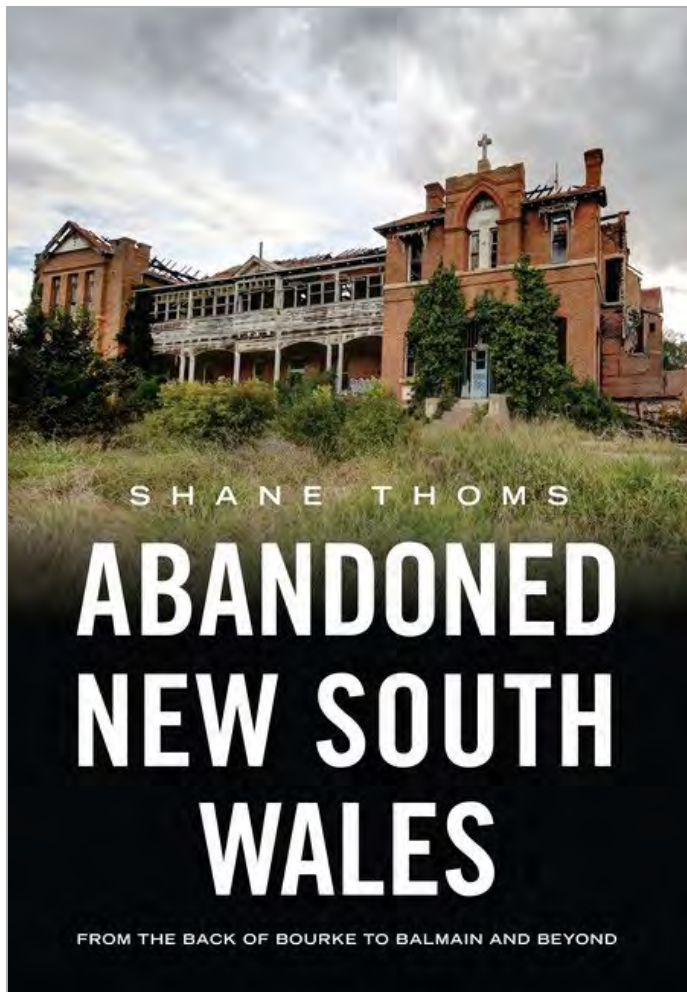

Master the Techniques, Understand the Weave Structures, Create Your Own Designs

By Betty Briand

This comprehensive guide to floor loom weaving begins with the basics-parts of the loom, how to wind your warp and dress your loom; how to read and weave drafts-but then goes so much farther, explaining the different types of weaves and how to read and weave from charts and exploring a variety of weaves in depth. The author covers each topic in detail, with illustrations, photos, and charts to guide you. The first half of the book is devoted to the basics of weaving, and the second part teaches a variety of weave structures and how to use them and adapt them to whatever you want to make. The Art of Weaving is extensive in its scope, and a reference book appropriate for all skill levels.

Abandoned New South Wales

By Shane Thoms

Key Sales Points:

- * Beautifully photographed book of abandoned places in New South Wales.
- * Will appeal to anyone with an interest in architecture or history.
- * Award-winning photographer.
- * Other books in Abandoned Series:
 - * 9781925868722 Abandoned Brisbane
 - * 9781925868906 Abandoned Gwalia
 - * 9781925868715 Abandoned Melbourne
 - * 9781925868739 Abandoned Perth
 - * 9781925868913 Abandoned South Australia

From the Opera House, sitting like a jewel embedded in the Sydney crown, to the warm northern beaches and, much farther west, to the sprawling red deserts surrounding Broken Hill, New South Wales is diverse and bountiful.

But there's a trail of discarded architectural legacies: abandoned factories, homes and public buildings. These forgotten establishments are small footnotes of history left by the most recent occupants of these spaces.

Here, the past and present clash to reveal a handful of small vignettes that whisper the secrets of those who came to work and dwell.

Abandoned New South Wales points to some of the clues that speak of the forgotten lives of Australia's oldest state.

Author Bio:

Shane Thoms is a photographer and photojournalist based in Melbourne, Australia. Educated in fine art photography and design via Monash University, Charles Sturt University and the Australian Academy of Design, his work explores the discarded urban space from a cross-cultural perspective. He has visually documented several exclusion zones inclusive of Chernobyl, Fukushima, and Plymouth. His books include Abandoned South Australia and Abandoned Australia, published in 2019.

World In Union

A History of the Rugby World Cup in XV Matches

By James Dixon, Sean Fitzpatrick

World in Union is the story of the Rugby World Cup told via its fifteen most important and dramatic matches.

From the inauspicious beginnings of the 1987 tournament, which nearly didn't happen due to back-room politics, and the amateur eras aversion to commercialism, the Rugby World Cup has grown into the third largest sporting event in the world, behind only the FIFA World Cup and the Olympics.

World in Union looks at the greatest games and the biggest controversies played out on the Rugby World Cup stage with each chapter focusing on a different game.

Western Samoa breaking Welsh hearts, the emergence of Jonah Lomu, Nelson Mandela and Francois Pienaar uniting the Rainbow Nation, Wilkinsons drop for World Cup glory, Frances's habit of spoiling the All-Blacks party, Sam Warburtons controversial sending off and Japan's greatest moment-all this and more is covered in this enjoyable narrative for all rugby fans.

Author Bio:

James Dixon (Rugby World, FourFourTwo, Athletics Weekly) is a sportswriter and historian with an interest in the social, economic, and political history of sport. His debut book, The Fix, told the story of the establishment of the UEFA Champions League during a period of economic and political tumult in Europe and European Football. In World in Union, he's turned his attention to the Rugby World Cup and the existential role it played in rugby's battle between amateurism and professionalism. James currently resides in England.

The Camino Portugues 2/e
From Lisbon and Porto to Santiago - Central, Coastal and Spiritual Caminos

By Kat Davis, Howard Miller

A guidebook to walking the Camino Portugues (Portuguese Way), 620km from Lisbon in Portugal to Santiago de Compostela in Spain. The book gives stage-by-stage directions for the Central Camino, starting from Lisbon, Porto or Tui, the Coastal Camino between Porto and Redondela, and the Spiritual Variant route from Pontevedra to Padron.

It also describes link routes that can be used to swap from one route to another. Detailed route guidance and maps are accompanied by fascinating information about historic and religious sites passed along the way. An indispensable facilities table showing the availability of accommodation, refreshments, supermarkets, ATMs and pharmacies along the route, and a handy glossary, make this the complete guide to the Camino. Since 1211 Santiago de Compostela has been a place of holy pilgrimage and the Camino Portugues is the second most travelled pilgrim route. The largely rural journey takes in four UNESCO World Heritage Areas - the Knights Templar Castle at Tomar, Portugal's oldest University at Coimbra, and the old towns of Porto and Santiago - culminating at the cathedral at Santiago de Compostela.

The Greatest Golf Stories Ever Told

Thirty Amazing Tales about the Greatest Game Ever Invented

By Jeff Silverman

The perfect gift for anybody who has ever swung a club or marvelled at the skill of touring professionals on television, The Greatest Golf Stories Ever Told is a compulsively readable collection of some of the most entertaining and insightful stories about golf.

Contributions include some well-known works from renowned writers of the genre, such as Dan Jenkins, Herbert Warren Wind, and John Updike, as well as some rare, lesser-known gems from George Plimpton, Bud Shrake, and the great F. Scott Fitzgerald.

The thirty stories in this fascinating collection will lead you from tee to green, avoiding the bunkers while illustrating in vivid detail—through true and fictional tales—all the humour, drama, excitement, and emotion the game of golf is so richly steeped in.

After Everest

A Sherpa's Dream to Conquer the Top of the World

By Tenzing Norgay

On 29 May 1953 Tenzing Norgay and Edmund Hillary conquered Everest, three days before the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. Before their success, Everest had claimed the lives of dozens of climbers, including George Leigh Mallory in 1924.

Norgay, the descendant of generations of yak herders, was destined to become a llama, but his love for the mountains was that much stronger.

He had but one dream all his life, despite seven sherpas dying in 1922, and that was to conquer Everest. For thirty years expeditions had been struggling to scale its fiendishly difficult icy slopes and he was part of every single one until the one with Hillary succeeded.

No adventure enthusiast will want to miss this unique Buddhist perspective on climbing.

The Complete Catullus

By Isobel Williams

During the latter phases of Covid, Isobel Williams completed her celebrated translations of the polyamorous ancient Roman poet Catullus. The poems that proved impossible when she prepared Shibari Carmina, published to acclaim in 2021, finally surrendered to her. Translating Catullus has been, for me, like cage fighting with two opponents, not just A Top Poet, but the schoolgirl I was, trained to show the examiner that she knew what each word meant. The conflict was resolved by a third component, the context of shibari, a Japanese form of rope bondage with its own knotty terminology. Due to its severe restraints Catullus came alive in all his tormented intelligence and romantic versatility. Critics called the work explosive and impactful, one of the most exciting translation volumes of recent years, lyrical, funny, engaging, and insightful.

For the Unnamed

By Fred D'Aguiar

For the Unnamed was originally entitled For the Unnamed Black Jockey Who Rode the Winning Steed in the Race Between Picos Sarco and Sepulvedas Black Swan in Los Angeles, in 1852. That title provided the full narrative in a nutshell: we know the names of the owners of the two horses, we know the horses' names, the place and date of the race. But apart from his colour, and his victory, we know nothing about the jockey who made the whole thing happen. Fred D'Aguiar's new book recovers and re-imagines his story. It was the most publicised race of its era with numerous press notices, but he remained unnamed. We are given several perspectives on the action - owners, trainers, the horse Black Swans, the jockeys lover, the jockey himself. But one crucial element of identity is forgotten, and that forgetfulness speaks eloquently about the time and the freed man's circumstances in the mid-nineteenth century.

From Our Own Fire

By William Letford

This prose and poetry tour de force of storytelling has the narrative punch of a novel. It is a new departure for the poet, and for poetry itself. It takes the reader into the not-too-distant future: an artificial intelligence rules the world, and a working-class family use their wits to live off the land. William Letford blends prose and his inimitable poetry: sci-fi and hunter-gatherer are merged into a coherent story in the pages of a stonemason's journal. You won't see the best of a Macallum until you put something in their fist, says Letford, introducing the family. Joiner, nurse, stonemason, hairdresser, plumber, gardener. Lorna even repairs vintage watches.

Insane Emperors, Sunken Cities, and Earthquake Machines

More Frequently Asked Questions about the Ancient Greeks and Romans

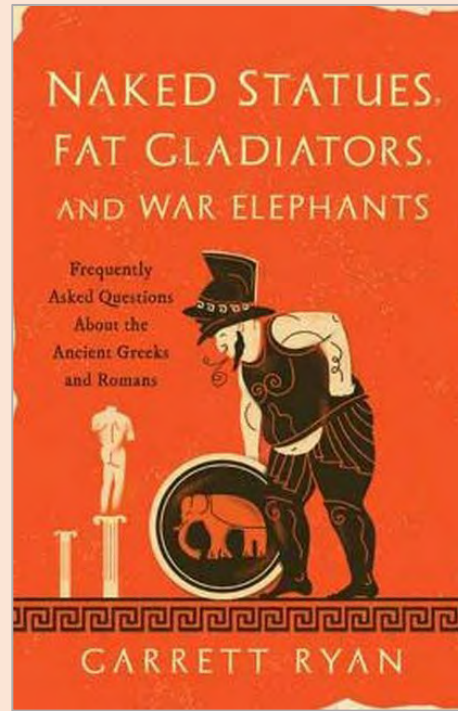

By Garrett Ryan

Did the ancient Greeks and Romans have conspiracy theories? How did they prove their identity? And how much of the modern gold supply comes from the Romans? In a series of short and humorous essays, Insane Emperors, Sunken Cities, and Earthquake Machines features more answers to questions that ancient historian Garrett Ryan is frequently asked in the classroom, in online forums, and on his popular YouTube channel Told in Stone. Unlike most books on the classical world, the focus is not on famous figures or events, but on the fascinating details of daily life. Learn the answers to: Did a tsunami inspire the Story of Atlantis? How did they send long-distance messages? What if Caesar had survived the Ides of March? How did the Romans build the aqueducts? Did they practice Buddhism? How deadly was the eruption that destroyed Pompeii? What if the Roman Empire hadn't been ravaged by the Antonine Plague? Did they attend concerts? How did they pay taxes? Was Caligula insane? Did they have tattoos?

Naked Statues, Fat Gladiators, and War Elephants

Frequently Asked Questions about the Ancient Greeks and Romans

By Garrett Ryan

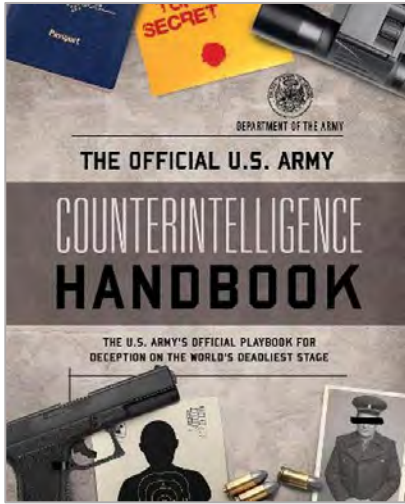

Why didn't the ancient Greeks or Romans wear pants? How did they shave? How likely were they to drink fine wine, use birth control, or survive surgery? In a series of short and humorous essays, Naked Statues, Fat Gladiators, and War Elephants explores some of the questions about the Greeks and Romans that ancient historian Garrett Ryan has answered in the classroom and online. Unlike most books on the classical world, the focus is not on famous figures or events, but on the fascinating details of daily life. Learn the answers to: How tall were the ancient Greeks and Romans? How long did they live? What kind of pets did they have? How dangerous were their cities? Did they believe their myths? Did they believe in ghosts, monsters, and/or aliens? Did they jog or lift weights? How did they capture animals for the Colosseum? Were there secret police, spies, or assassins? What happened to the city of Rome after the Empire collapsed? Can any families trace their ancestry back to the Greeks or Romans?

The Wildlife of Australia's Great Barrier Reef

By Myke Mollard

Key Sales Points:

- * Companion book to Myke's bestselling Creatures books.
- * Great value large format hardcover at $29.99.
- * Powerful, vivid drawings are created in a graphic style that's likened to a comic book.

Myke Mollard's signature illustrations and engaging text bring kids up close and personal with hundreds of the creatures found on Australia's Great Barrier Reef: corals, fish including sharks, turtles and other marine reptiles, whales and dolphins, birds, molluscs, crustaceans, even the animals found on the reef's 900-odd islands.

The creatures are not only beautifully drawn and coloured, but the accompanying text vividly describes their lifestyles and habits.

The wonderment of these stunning animals, delivered in an engaging cinematic punch, will excite the imaginations of children for life and fully engage any adult with a love of Australia's wildlife.

Author Bio:

Myke Mollard is a children's educator, illustrator, author, and designer. He began his career in graphic design, branding management and producing commercials for TV. He later found outlets for his passion for educating kids about the world around them, both in person in classroom and online settings, and via his books which he fully writes and illustrates himself. One of his first books, in 2008, was the best-selling A-Z of Australian Bush Creatures. He is also the author of Australia's Dangerous Creatures, Australia's Endangered Creatures, Australian Dinosaurs and Mega Beasts and Australian Backyard Birds.

The AU in Dinosaur

By Judith Barker, Janie Frith

Key Sales Points:

- * Sixth book in this award-winning series.
- * Unique approach to phonemes and the teaching of English.
- * Designed to appeal to primary aged children.
- * Hardback Version available – 9781922800398 - $27.99

This is the story of the AU. The AU in the Dinosaur is a fun Australian-themed phoneme story that teaches young readers about the vowel sound AU and where they can find it in different words.

Beautifully illustrated by Janie Frith, the rich colours and vibrant use of multi-media enhance the magical experience. The book is about the journey of several young Australians on a time travel ride back to see real dinosaurs and other prehistoric creatures.

The first book from Judith and Janie, the Oo in Uluru, won a 2019 Book of the Year award from Speech Pathology Australia; this is their sixth book, the others focussing on the vowel sounds A, EE, I, O and OO.

Author Bio:

Author: Judith is an English teacher who has taught phonemic awareness to children in Europe, the Middle East, India, and China. While researching a masters in phonology, Judith began to use visual language in stories, by colouring the different phonemes, so that children could make a holistic sense of the various spelling patterns. Judith published her first children’s book, The Oo in Uluru, in 2019 and it soon won a Book of the Year award from Speech Pathology Australia. Ee in the Sea followed in 2020 and O in the Snow in 2021. When Judith is not writing children’s stories or plays, she teaches music therapy and meditation. She lives in Melbourne with her family and adorable Australian terriers, Nellie, and Dusty.

Originally from New Zealand. Illustrator: Janie Frith attended art school and then became an art teacher. In 2006 Janie moved to Australia with her family and now lives in Foster, South Gippsland. Janie holds art classes in her studio, Art Blast. This is where Janie spends most of her time, usually with her naughty border collie Lucy snuggled under her feet.

The Kid with Big, Big Ideas

By Britney Winn Lee, Jacob Souva

"There once was a kid with glittery nails who always wore colorful socks, and all-around town, this child was known for thinking outside of the box."

Following the bestselling The Boy with Big, Big Feelings and The Girl with Big, Big Questions comes a new story about a nonbinary kid with ideas so big and wild that grown-ups often dismiss them.

What if we could be mermaids and swim to school? What if we could teach pets to talk? What if we could make the world safe and inclusive for everyone?

This innovative kid doesn't stop there, and with the help of their supportive Gran, they come up with the biggest idea yet.

In a world that so often dismisses and excludes kids from decision-making, this book boldly suggests that not only should kids have a voice, but that their ideas just might be the ticket to making progress.

Author Bio:

Britney Winn Lee is an author, editor, and United Methodist pastor living in Shreveport, Louisiana, with her creative husband and big-hearted son. Her books include The Boy with Big, Big Feelings (Beaming Books), The Girl with Big, Big Questions (Beaming Books), Rally: Communal Prayers for Lovers of Jesus and Justice (Upper Room), Deconstructed Do-Gooder: A Memoir about Learning Mercy the Hard Way (Cascade Books), and Good Night, Body: Finding Calm from Head to Toe (Tommy Nelson). With a master's degree in nonprofit administration and her local pastor licensure, Lee has worked for over a decade in faith- and justice-based, creative community-building. She writes to make room for all people of all ages.

Jacob Souva is an illustrator who lives in Upstate New York with his wife and two boys. He's passionate about equipping kids with language to navigate their emotional well-being, laugh at silly things, and be inspired by big stories. Jacob works digitally and loves to experiment with texture and color.

Each day felt like a puzzle to solve,
and the kid's imagination, the key for creating all sorts of great big ideas to make things the best they could be!

by Britney Winn Lee
illustrated by Jacob Souva

Meet a boy with feelings so big that they glow from his cheeks, spill out of his eyes, and jump up and down on his chest. The boy tries to cope by stuffing down his feelings, but with a little help and artistic inspiration, the boy realizes his feelings are something to be celebrated. The Boy with Big, Big Feelings is relatable for any child, but especially for children experiencing anxiety and extreme emotions, or who have been diagnosed with autism or as a Highly Sensitive Person.

"Why can't people live on the moon?" "Can I be president when I grow up?" "What makes a person good?" These are just some of the questions that bubble forth from one little girl with twinkling eyes and a curious mind. When the girl finds that her big questions make some people uncomfortable, she stops. But then she learns that her questions can solve problems and that asking questions is how we learn and grow. Celebrate the spirit of curiosity and the joy of learning with this lively picture book about a persistent girl and her quest for knowledge.

Key Sales Points:

* A children's book that covers the following topics: Climate Change, Nature, Human Kindness, Resilience, Community and Magpies.

As fires raged across the land, neighbours helped neighbours and prepared for what was to come. Afterwards, people did what they could for each other, grieving all that was lost.

But nature is resilient, and people are kind and recovery gradually came about. Some people rebuilt their houses; others moved away.

The birds returned, and eucalypts regrew.

This book is an object of community memory, a lament for the human and natural losses caused by climate disasters like the Canberra firestorm of 2003 and the Australia-wide fires of the summer of 2019-2020.

But it's also a song of thanks to our tireless emergency workers and strong communities.

It's an homage to the magpies who returned to our suburbs with their glorious song. It's a plea to act on climate change. And it's a story of hope.

Author Bio:

Author: Barbie Robison is co-Principal of arts media not for profit website, podcast platform and internet radio station LIVING ARTS CANBERRA. She is a Canberra-based arts journalist, arts advocate, photographer, writer, and designer. She was a teacher in government school systems for thirty-four years before moving into employment in community and professional arts, including marketing and gallery management. She is the author/designer of three solo books of poetry. She is the author and designer of two children's books published by For Pity Sake Publishing – all illustrated by Ian Robertson. Barbie and her husband live in Canberra.

Illustrator: Ian has always loved drawing and creating. In his many years as an educator, he enjoyed reading children's picture books to introduce reading skills and to stir imagination. Grandma's Knicker Tree, illustrated for Barbie Robison, gave him another opportunity to help open doorways to creativity and problem solving for young readers. Charles the Gallery Dog, the latest young readers' book, written by Barbie Robison, challenged him to think from a different viewpoint. Now retired from full time work he has renewed his passion for landscape painting and other visual arts. Ian is a voluntary guide for the National Gallery of Australia and volunteers at Bundanon, Arthur Boyd's gift to the nation. Ian lives in the Shoalhaven region but regularly revisits the Canberra region.

When I Feel Angry

First Feelings Series

By Child's Play, Paula Bowles

Developed in conjunction with a child psychologist, these board books focus on the main emotions experienced by very young children. Featuring non-gendered characters and avoiding stereotypical associations of color and emotion, each book introduces the child to the feelings raised by one emotion. Coping strategies are discussed where necessary. Features: The books are designed with both neurodivergent and neurotypical readers in mind, for example, 'When I Feel Loved' includes examples of expressing affection without physical contact. Where relevant, coping strategies are modelled; in 'When I Feel Scared' the main character uses a flashlight to ease their fears and thinks happy thoughts to calm down.

Sex Ed for the Stroller Set
How to Have Honest Conversations With Young Children

By Laura Hancock, Karen Rayne

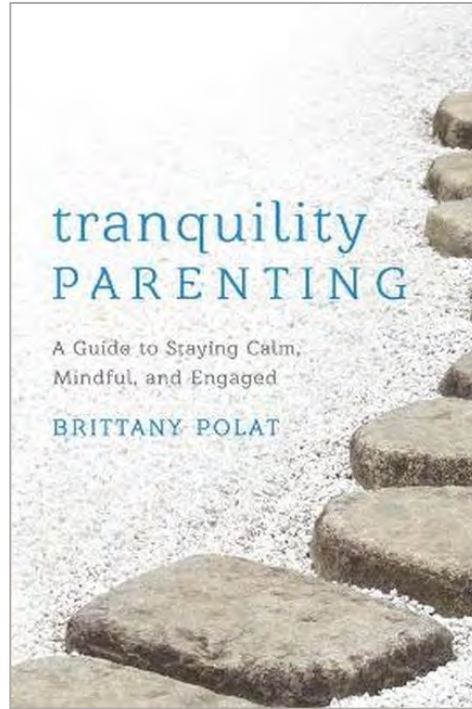

This book serves as a guide for parents with children from infancy through six years of age, to help parents recognize how their behavior influences their child's sexuality. When adults bring intention and thoughtfulness to providing sexual health education to their young children, they can establish healthy attitudes toward sexuality and prepare their children and themselves for sexual topics that will arise in later years. While there are many books on sexual health written for parents of teens and young adults, there are very few written for parents of young children. But the early years are crucial to sexual health, and what parents do and say is of the utmost importance.

The goal of this book is to give parents practical tools to proactively teach young children about sexuality, and the confidence to use these tools. These include Factual information regarding sexuality in general and normal developmental behavior in this age group; Language to use when talking with kids and realistic ideas for how to teach; The opportunity to explore parents' own anxiety around teaching about sexuality; and more.

Tranquility Parenting
A Guide to Staying Calm, Mindful, and Engaged

By Brittany B. Polat

Tranquility Parenting describes how Brittany Polat discovered modern Stoicism and what it can offer to stressed-out parents of the 21st century. As a mother of three young children, Polat used to constantly doubt her parenting abilities. She felt anxious, frustrated, and guilty about her perceived failings as a parent. Now, as a practicing Stoic, she gained the confidence and calm she was craving and has more energy to be fully engaged and happy with them.

What will this book do for you? It will not tell you how to potty train your child, but it will tell you how to enjoy the time you spend potty training your child. It will not tell you how to monitor your teen on social media, but it will show you how to use practical wisdom to make decisions about media consumption. It will not tell you how to make your kids eat vegetables, but it will explain how to be present and engaged while you are teaching your kids to eat vegetables.

So, if you are willing to invest time and energy in applying Stoic insights, you may find that tranquility parenting is not only possible, but truly the best option for you and your family.
